SATURDAY EVENING, SEPT. 9.

VIRGINIA ITEMS.

George W. Ball, Thomas W. Edwards, and Sanderson Thrift, of Loudoun, have received during the past week, the pardon of President Johnson. The property of each of these gentlemen was among that published last week, as having been confiscated and assigned to the Freedmen's Bureau. This releases their property.

The attention of Mr. David J. Saunders, the Provisional Manager of the City of Richmond, having been called to the fact that hucksters are in the habit of overhauling carts bringing produce to market when within six miles of the city limits, and purchasing the same to retail again in market, he has directed the clerks of both markets to report promptly every such violation of the city ordinance to the Chief of Police, who will see that offenders are punished.

The County Court of Spotsylvania held its regular session on Monday, the 4th instant, and everything went off as usual in the good old times. B. Johnson Barbour, candidate for Congress, addressed the people.

The Richmond Whig says:—"We understand that capitalists are already fixing their eyes upon the coal lands of Chesterfield and Goochland. We would warn the holders of such lands not to suffer their lands to go for what the surface may bring, for most assuredly in the course of a few years, the coal trade will become very large, and the coal lands proportionally valuable."

The Richmond Whig is warmly in favor of Governor Peirpoint. It says of him:—"He has secured for himself a hold on the good will of the people of Virginia that neither the defamations of malice nor the intrigues of knavery can dislodge."

The Congressional Convention proposed to be held in Winchester on the 7th inst., did not assemble—but those present passed resolutions recommending Mr. Conrad as a candidate for Congress.

General Custis Lee has been appointed Professor in the Virginia Military Institute to fill the place formerly occupied by Gen. (Stonewall) Jackson.

The two Winchester Presbyteries have united after a separation of some 25 years.

The "Burial of Latane," a painting by W. D. Washington, which excited much admiration is now on exhibition in Richmond.

Several hundred dollars, collected as fines by the Provost Marshal of Lynchburg, have been, by order of General Curtis, turned over to the city authorities there.

Mr. Amos McComas, of Baltimore has just purchased the "Richmond Hill" plantation, in Richmond county, Va., consisting of 1,119 acres. It is situated between the Rappahannock and Potomac rivers, a large portion bordering on the first-named stream.

Some weeks ago an advertisement appeared in the Richmond Bulletin in which the advertiser expressed a wish to go into the newspaper business with some one who had the material, as his printing office had been destroyed "by the public enemy." A few days since Gen. Terry's attention was attracted to this expression, and Mr. Bailey, the publisher, was sent for to state who the author was. He proved to be John J. Palmer, formerly editor of a paper in Winchester, which was taken possession of by the Federal troops, who lately returned to that city, having been absent since the evacuation. Mr. Palmer was then sent for and committed to Castle Thunder, from whence, he has been removed to the city jail.

Amongst our old exchanges from the North, there is none we welcome more heartily than we do the Boston Post. Opposed in old party times, as we were to the politics of the Post, we always recognized its worth and its ability—and, now, we are pleased to see that it labors earnestly in the cause of peace, conciliation, harmony, and opposes all ultraism, and all measures calculated to excite prejudice, passion and discontent.

GOLD.

NEW YORK, September 9.—Gold, 144½.

The drought has been broken—we have now refreshing rains, and we may hope soon to have cooler weather.

Gen. Davis, late an officer in the army, on accepting the nomination of the democratic party of Pennsylvania for the office of Auditor General, denounces the doctrine of secession and endorses President Johnson's reconstruction policy. He adds: I am opposed to negro suffrage, as every white man should be."

PUBLIC THIEVES.

[From the Washington Chronicle.]

Ever since the war commenced the Government has been robbed. Apparent friends and suspected enemies have been alike concerned, and it is both just and appropriate, in such a period as we have passed through, to make a new classification for the benefit of those who have cared nothing for the principles of either side in the great contest, but have only sought throughout to benefit themselves. We may select men of this class from almost any department of the army, and from every rank in society. Officers have made false returns. Quartermasters have sold Government stores and pocketed the proceeds. Commissaries who have been ordered to sell stores to the famished population of the conquered States, have defrauded the Government by taking money for supplies never furnished, and supplying goods that never were issued. Surgeons have sold their stores and made themselves rich from their corruptions. Weapons have been retained or given away as trophies, which should have been credited to the United States Government. Horses and mules have been a special object of peculation. Officers have drawn forage to which they had no legal right, and endeavored to ship off horses to which they had no legal title. Privates have stolen horses and mules and sold them for a song. Sutlers and other hangers on in the army have engaged in this business, and oftentimes not only defrauded the Government, but individuals also. Perhaps these persons consider themselves safe. They are very much mistaken.

The Richmond Times, in an article on the Cholera, urging preparation and precaution, says:—"The moral and material elements of our sanitary condition in the United States are just now peculiarly favorable to the rapid and deadly spread of such an epidemic as the cholera. It may come to us at any moment, in the next steamer that shall arrive, for we know only that it travels with mankind; and that mankind never traveled so much or so fast as now."

The Winchester Times says that Baltimore is hereafter to be the great commercial mart of Virginia. It seems, indeed, as if every effort was being made to accomplish such a result.
